

The Madison County Cooperative Extension Office is the local office of the Virginia Cooperative Extension Service ("Service") administered by the Virginia Cooperative Extension and Agricultural Experiment Station Division of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Virginia State University.

The Service provides information and knowledge on subjects related to agriculture, agribusiness, home economics, community resource development, 4-H Clubs and related subjects, through instruction and dissemination by staff providing demonstrations, conferences, courses, workshops, publications, meetings and mass media.